EXTRADITION WITH JAPAN.

The extradition treaty with Japan, which was signed in April last in Tokio and sont to the senale several weeks ago by the president to be acted upon at its next seeslon, is a subject of pecular interest to the Pacific coast, to which Japan has senalting. has sometimes served as an asylum for criminals, although, by the courtesy of nations, Japan more than one has consented to surrender criminals, despite the absence of a treaty. While the present treaty with Great Britain and its proposed enlargement covers only twelve of-fences, the treaty with Japan includes all of these, such as murder, arson, piracy, forgery, embezzlement and with them counterfeiting, the circulation of counterfeit money, per-jury, subornation of perjury, rape, fraud com-mitted by an officer of a bank or by a trustee, and murder, manstaughter or assault with intent to kill committed on the Ligh seas.

The full list is as follows: full list is as follows:

1. Murder, assault with intent to commit murder and manshagher. 2. Counterfeiting or altering money, or uttering or bringing into circulation counterfeit or aftered money counterfeiting certificates or compons of motic indebtedness, bank notes or other instruments of public credit of either of the parties, and the afternal care or circulation of the same. 3. Furgery, or altering and uttering what is forced on afternal. erimital malversation of the public funds, committed within the jurisdiction of either party, by public officers or deposition. Burglary, defined to be the breaking and entering by night thee into the house of another whether in the day or night time with the intent to commit a felony therein. 7. The act of ent ing, or of breaking and entering, the offices of Reverument and public authorities, or the offices of banks, banking houses, saving banks, trust com-pantes, insurance or other companies, with the in-tent to commist a felony therein. 8. Perjury or the subcommission of saving and the subcommission of saving and the the subcommission of saving and saving an the subcrusation of perjury. 9. Rape. 10. Arson.
11. Plracy by law of nations. 12. Murder, assault with intent to kill and manslaughter committed on the high sea on board a ship bearing the hago the demanding country. 13. Malledous destruction of crattempt to destroy rullways, trains, vessels, bridges, dwellings, public editices, or other buildings, which is the contraction of the production of the produc ings when the act endangers hum Fraud by a banker or trustee, or by any officer of a bank or a trust company, mad criminal by any law for the time being in force Offenses of a political character are excluded, and persons extradited shall not be tried for political offenses. Each government will undertake to hold a person charged with crime for two months when informed by telegraph that a formal request for his surrender is on the way and a warrant setting forth the crime. The de arrant setting forth me arms.

f its own citizen by either government to the other shall be outional with the country of which the request is made. The country questing the extradition pays the expense of arrest, detention and expeniention. The treaty may be terminated by either power on six The remarkable thing is that the heathen civdization of Japan, that did not open its doors to the influence of the United States or Europe un-ill 1854, has negotiated an extradition treats with us that puts Great Britain's very conservative freaty to shame. Javan is on a higher plane than Great Britain respecting the surrender of fugitive criminals. H. WEFFEE CONFIDENCE. The hearty reception that Gen. Sherman gets wherever he goes on this coast is strong proof what a complete answer a high, sincere, sound character, backed by great deeds, is to calming even when framed with skill and uttered enemies of conspicuous mbility and considerable influence. In February last, Gen. Fry, in the American Reciew, with cumping that probably was born of malice, published an exbact from a private letter of Sherman's, to the effect that "If Gen. C. E. Smith had lived Grant would have disappeared after Donelson" Sherwould have disappeared after Donelson." Sherman had forgotten the letter, as any busy man forgets much that he says or writes in haste on matters of no commercial consequence, and had denied its opinions. Charles A. Dans, of the the text of this controversy between Fry and Sherman, to argue that Sherman did not tell the trath when, after Grant's death, he spoke in eloquent words of the long and unbroken friendship ethat had existed between Grant and himself, from Fort Donelson to the death of his ion to Fry's malicious stab at Sherman, or Dana's effort to twist the knife in the wound, The people reasoned with common sense fairness that Sharman, after the flight of twentythree years from 1862, in an off-hand speech, could not be expected to state to a day when his iration for Grant began. Sherman learned by experience and events to love Grant loyally and to distrust Halleck, but his love and trust in Grant evidently, like the love and trust of a great many other men, came to its full flower later than Ponelson, for, as one swallow don't make a summer, so one victory don't give a general, hitherto obscure, the entire confider eral, atthered obscure, the entire confidence of his contrades, since, as tentes lost at Camden all the reportation that he won at Saratoga, so Grant came dangerously near losing at Shitoh all he won at Donelson. That Sherman was a loyal friend to Grant from Comelson to his death there is not the slightest doubt, for his conduct and correspondence proves it, but nothing was more natural than that he should, in the haste of extempore speech, but a fixed an earlier date for his confidence in tiratics genius for than was historically appurate. Probably Ponelson was the data of his friendship, while it may have taken Vicksburg to codence him of Grand's great capacity, as it dut all the rest of us. The people knew that Sherman was the us. The people knew that Sherman was the last man is the world to say anything false, although he would naturally be just the off-hand speech to be mexic, for he has the pocular temperament that goes with man of genius and vivid imagination. He felt intensely, spoke impulsively, talked in-cereantly, wrote tapid paint to a great many people; he never kept a body of the letters, and it would be impossible for such a mun not to forget a great deal that he has spoken and written. But the public had known Gen. Sperman too long and too well to do him any injustice; they knew he was a brave, frank, manly soldier, not a cunning lawyer, weighing every spoken or written word; they knew be was not a mean or double-faced man, but simply an able, frank man, easily capable of getting into hot water with eny cheep fee who cared to take advantage of his rapid speech and running pen. Such men are so prone by tempérament to the habit of strong, positive statement that they sometimes overstate, and in their rapid writing they nevstop to revise an opinion that may greatly need revision. Of course, Sherman if he had ever thought his letter to Scott was to become a basis for exact historical statement would have read it over carefully and modified so strong an expression as that Grant would have been lost to history after Donelson had Smith eurylyed, for of course Sherman knew that the victor of Fort Donelson was secure of a high place in history even if C. F. Smith had lived to lead out army at Shiloh, a battle field selected by himself, Sherman in 1886 said: "Had Smith lived probably some of us younger fellows would not have attained our present positions." This was a fair statement, and was made in a formal public address, but Sherman's private letter qui Gen. Fry was dashed off with the reckless haste communications, and was not fairly used to try and place Sherman in a ridiculous position. Sherman is quite as able, if not ablar than many men who have not his constitutional, temperamental tendency to strong, vivid state-ment. Bis imagination, his excitability, his tendential fertility of thought and forceful expression run riot through his career; when a dulier man world curb his steed Sher-man would drive with a rackless, loose roin, or ride, using whip and spur in season and out season. A duiler man might not write or say so many things he would wish were unsaid and unwritten and yet never do so many deeds that

Fix and Dana to their bow glanced off from Sherman's shining character, for the people eaid Sherman never did a mean or double faced thing in his whole public life to Grant, and if his dates are not always correct by the card and the book his deeds are not double and do not need my explanation.

The people's confidence in Sherman's ingenuousness was as perfect as it was in the integrity of Grant in those dismat days when Babcock and Belknap abused bis confidence, or subse-quently when the decent newspapers of both parties treated with deserved contempt the effort to morally inculpate him with the financial Conspiracy of Fish and Ward. The people reasoned fairly that Grant's connection with the firm was natural; he put money into the firm to help his boys, just as any foud old father would do; his boys were equally honest, and were completely suped by Ward, who had canningly won their confidence. Grant trusted his boys' judgment of Ward, a man who deceived an able, asteran Wall-street banker like Fish, and a veteran merchant like Mayor Grace. The people reasoned generously and justly that Grant was a dupe. Ward traded on the same simplicity of character and generosity of heart, that made the judicious grieve for Grant when he was president, but they know that as president there was no emirch on his personni honor, so then he was the dope, who suffered fearfully by his blindness, never the confident of designing men. As a de men as Grant and Sherman have been fooled to the fon of their best, by shrewd knaves. He had the same generous temper and simplicity of character that made men of genus, like Nelson and Alexander Hamilton, the dupes of designing women. Great capacity is not infrequently associated with great credulity. The people deemed that Grant's letters to Fish and Ward were transparently those of an inno-cent man, too generous, too simple, too conid-ing for the "street," sand-blind in business matters, but clearly a dupe, not a conspirator, And Sherman, lacking trant's temperamental credulity in business, is nevertheless a man of the warlike virtues, so entirely square and manly in his life in pence or war, that the attack of the New York Sun and the North American Review never lost bin the confidence of his countrymen an hopr. Triden would never have been caught in this way, and yet Triden had not the confidence of his countrymen, so that he was lainted by the frauds of his friends and tauntingly saluted as "the sage of Cipher Alley." Sherman's character is proof against a hasty speech, but the "cipher dispatches" were consistent with the jesultical cunning that organized and conducted the campaign of frand that elected Hoffman governor of New York in Samuel E. Gay, chief clerk in the pension bu-tean at Pittsburg, Pa., who recently ran away to Canada, after embezzling $29,000, was the son of wealthy parents, an exemplary young man, strict attendant at church, quite active in the Young Men's Christian association, and a prominent leader in the Murting that the team of the strict attendant at the strict active the strict and a prominent leader in the Murting the strict and a prominent leader in the Murting the strict and a prominent leader in the Murting the strict and a prominent leader in the Murting the strict and a prominent leader in the Murting the strict and the strict a play temperance movement. It is, of course, not a logical objection against any temperance organization that a thief should belong to it. and get so illogical and sensitive is human nature in its prejudices that we have little doubt that this ruscal, parading his temperature badge, would keep more men from mounting the blue ribton than the daily sight of a new convert fallen from grace, because the mass of men are quick to feel that there are sins of the blood in distinction from sins of the spirit, and that while drunkenness is dreadful, it is almost a genelous quality, compared with so base and cold-blooded a crime as that confessed by this stemious villain. Temperance is good, but it is well to remember that the world suffers terribly by numerous scoundrels of unimpeached and unimpeachable sobriety. These sober scoun-drels recall the famous Roumanian robber bing, Grozesko, who when arrested and put on trial, said: "I am not a murderer. During my long leight there were no murders committed in this place. I robbed honestly, only rich people, and ulways pulitely, without richence." The sobey embezziers always 100 "honestly, po-intely and without violence."

In a paper recently read before the Royal United Service institution, Maj. Kitchener of the English army maintained that the English military system was exceedingly defective in that no limitation was given to average of the control of the con instruction was given to army officers in the use of the revolver. At Sandhurst, he says, the young officer is tanght to command a brigade, to build a fort, to survey a country, to ride a horse, and to climb a pula, but the only authorized course of personal defense or offense is ten short lessons in sword exercise. Under such circumstance it would be the control of the country of t cumstances it could hardly be expected that an infantry officer could either defend himself or assail the fre. In the opinion of Mai, Kitchener, the revolver was par excellence the cavalry weapon, and in Russia, Germany and France officers and men were trained in revolver practice. It was a very serious question whether tite. It was a very serious question whether the English cavalry would, in an action, he any match with an enemy armed with the revolver. Very few of the officers and hardly my of the men had any practical experience with this weapon. Maj.-tien. Sir Frederick Middleton, weapon map-real. In renderick apparessed it as his opinion that in future warfare the revolver would be used a great deal more than it had ever before been.

pert with the revolver than the Federals, and trusted more to it in battle, but the best year of the war car cavalry, both with the sale the revelver, and in horsemanship, were quite equal to the enemy.

Among the pension bills veloed by the president was an act preposing to grant a pension to Mrs. Jeanette Dr.w. on the ground bushand's death from apoplexy on the 17th of the centler, 1885, was due to a gun-stot wound in his left knew received in September, 1863. It appears that Mr. Dow served for years after the war as a railroad conductor; there was no medical testimony which attributed death to the wound, "and it would be hardly credible," Mr. Cleveland remarks, "if such ovidence was found;" and that the widow's claim was rejected by the pension onrean last year moon the second that her hoshand adeath was not caused by the wound. "I am sure," says the president in conclusion, "that in no case, except in an applicath a for pension, would an attempt be made in the circumstances here developed to attribute death form apoplexy to a wound in the knee received nineteen years before the apoplec-le is a whisky man straight. * * It was lingham who, in 1884, while speaking for Blanc, in north Alabama, said that if he could be would not pipes into every house to Alabama, fill them with free whisky, and let the people have all they wanted. It was Bingham who, in the local option elections in Talladega county, organized the negroes, and with a brass band canvassed every beat for whisky.

At the recent Alabama state ejection the prohibitionists denounced the reproductions for governor, Hingham, as follows:

Then they asked the democratic candidate if he believed in prohibition, and he answered: "With the brilliant record of my party behind me and with my face immed toward, the door and aurrise of the coming glories of our match-less state, I answer that direct question with, this response—'I am a democrat.'"

Frau Cosima Wagner, the widow of the great composer, Wagner, is the illegitimate child of Liszt and the Countess d'Agoult. She was named after the Lake of Como. It will be re-membered that some fifteen years ago she ran away from Von Bulow and lived with Wagner up to the time of his death, the master composer of this ago excusing the desertion upon the ground that be could not compose without her. Liszt flied white in the course of paying honor to the memory of the man who lived in concubinago with his own (illegitimate)

He is a votary of civil service reform. while his successor has been chosen on the plat-form "that public office is public trust, but the trustees must be demograte, not republican friends, not enemies, to the proper administra-tion of the trust."

POLITICAL RETRIBUTION.

Zach Chandler died sbortly after the robbery of Titten. Garfield was murdered as a result of the emitty of his political friends. Barid baris, who night have saved the country the disbuor, is dead too. Conkling has been deserted by his party. Wheeler, vice president by fraud, where is be? Afthur, expresident, is seriously ill, and neither Conkling nor the party apparently cares for him. Dorsey, who turnished the sinews of war in 18-8, it as a lonely aff there were not another war in 1867, is as lonely agif there were not another republican in the world. Of Garded's cabinet, with the exception of Blaine, who knows anything whatever? Who can call the names of most of the men who most up Hayer's official family? But there men prominent then can easily be mentioned now. Hayes himself, Iwares, and Elliza Pinkston's characteristics. champion, John Sherman. What changes there have been.—New York Graphic.

The Graphic rather implies that premature political death or rehibition of some sort has overtaken all the leading republicans who were prominent in the great contest of 187d. But the changes have not been all on one eide. Hendicks, second on the Tilden light, is dead. Pelton, Tilden's nephew, the engineer of the "cipher" dispatch campaign, ie dead. Apgar, Tilden's catspaw, is dead. Fernando Wood is dead. John Kelly, Tilden's for, and Hubert Thompson, Tilden's friend, are dond. Horatio Seymour, Tilden's copperhead coadjutor, is dead. McClellan and Hancock, his military music, are dead. Watterson, who wanted to whoop the Southern and Northern democracy to insurrection, is physically on his last legs, mith Weed is politically dead and only "walking around to save funeral expenses." ('ronin, the Oregon statesman, is dead.

With the exception of our treaty with Mexico, all extradition treaties provide that a fugitive criminal cannot be currendered to a foreign power without the authority of the president of United States. But the Mexican Irenty, made in 1861, provides that "in the case of crimes committed in the frontier states or territories" the surrender may be made by "the chief civil authority thereof, or such civil or judicial au-thority of the districts or counties bordering on the frontier as may be for this purpose duly authorized by the said chief civil authority of the said frontier states or territories." That is, the surrender may be made by a county judge, which was done in the case of Hasures, recently surrendered by Texas authority and promptly executed by Mexican justice.

Senator Edmunds, in an authorized interview, concedes that the tariff and internal taxes should have been reduced at this session of congress, and ntributes the failure to accomplish anything in this direction to "the incompelence of the democrats," These taxes, he said. "when they were laid, were proper and neces-sary. The times are changed, the taxes are now to a considerable extent a needless bur en, constantly piling up a surplus, which is a continued temptation to extravagant and waste-ful legislation." And he holds that "the house has shown its business incompetency by failing to devise and carry through some wise plan of iaz reduction."

The recent elections of councilors-general in sance are a vote of confidence in the republic. In 1258 cantons the republicans have gained seventy-six seats and less eighty-three. In 177 districts second ballotings are required. The probability is that when the returns are all in, and the second ballotings have been had, the political balance of the councils-general with be found to remain practically as before; that is, the republicane will have a majority in about

An important feature of the elemenraring law has been generally overlooked in the cut-rent comments upon it. And this is the require-ment of a pearly license of about $680 from manufacturers, $480 from wholesale dealers and $48 from retailers. In addition to the tax of 2 cents a pound, and the requirements as to label-ing and inspection, this is relied on by the bot-ter makers and dealers to stamp out obsomar-

Citizens of Douglas county are again moving in the matter of the construction of a wagon road from Roseburg up the Umpqua river and nerous the Cascades into Eastern Oregon. An excellent pass through the range at this point is known, and a party of engineers who traversed the trail in 1881 gave a very flattering report of the case with which it reight be opened. The estimated cost of construction is $14,000.

CURRENT OPISION.

New York Tribene? Mr. Garland has taken his vacation; but he has not vacated his cities. This is still a reform administration that is dways ready to make a great tacks palout a $100 pension case, while it condones one of the worst scandals ever known in administrative acrade in Washington. Philadelphia Times: Before the people learned to look to congress for everything, congress had time to attend to the common concerns of the United States; but now it is kept so busy with things that the states ought to do for themselves, or even that includingly ought to do for themselves, that it has no thou for those things that belong to it exclusively, and so they go undone. New York Mail and Express: War with Mexical States of the state of the stat ice would be a misfortune to this country is ice would be a misfortune to this country in many respects. If prolonged enough to compal us to overrun the whole country and to exact conditions proportionate to our expense of blood and troasure, we might have be add the raceprollems of our neighbor to our own difficulties. There would be no croilt in whipping the Mexicans, and celay in accomplishing their defent would be very exasperating.

New York Herald: Mr. Soutre has admitted the authorship of the Flynn letters, but declares "It was written in the spirit of fun." No man has a right to be as upronriously income as that. The people are apt to misunderstand a public official when he makes a contract to sell himself body and soul, and they fail to see the point even when he assures them that it is simply a practical joke. The wit contained in that document is too subtle or too obscure for popular comprehension.

Josephian County Mines,

Ficket Mines of Senthern Oregon.

There are but few nickel mines in the world and this is by many believed to be the richest one. Within five miles of this place, Mr. Brown last week discovered unmistakable stridences of an everlasting supply of lignite (coal) which will prove to be indispensable as soon as the necessary mechinery is set up and put in run ning order. The best of water is found in abundance near by Tamberfor building pur loses can be had on the ground. Whenever the bine is opened, half a million dollars will annually find their way into the hands of industices the property of the second of the second most extensively of all nations, than it is known by the Americans. Should be size high of the second of the largest manifacturing establishment in the world and has he management of [19,605 employes. Should be size high of the mines they would be opened immediately. But it would be to the interest of Oregon in the long run to have the mines opened by American labor and than sell the product to Germany. This is the way it is most likely soon to be Then streets and allegs will be marked out and the town on the side of "Piny" will in a slight degree present something of the appearance that the runb Virginia city does along the side of Mr. Davis, And while in days of jone the neople of that city that was flash with gold sen'ts of arean city, the expital for their supplies, the coming Nickel City will send to Roesburg the county seat, many a bright dol lar for the ne assistes of life.

We learn the quary is near Gold Hill, Jackson be well for the people of Houghas county to be looking after the interest of our county. We have lime quarries of reputed excellent quality.

Then why not open them up and bid for Portland's trade? We surely need it, and if we possess the rock we ought to avail ourselves of the opportunity to supply the demand. Let us not cool water on a but day. The lower animals are equally in need of the means of quenching lainst.

The active dog requires drink frequently during the bot day, as does also the cat and a dish of fresh water should stand where they can have access to it. Undoubtedly many a dog is driven to madness through lack of water, and the testimony is that hydrophobia is almost unknown in those localities where dogs can drink when they wish.

Every city, village and country town should be liberally supplied with drinking fountains for animals, and they should be so constructed that even the smallest dogs can drink from them hog fif to a people confetu a greater pleasure than a fountain, and that person who turns aside a stream from the field and gives a water log trough to the roadside, or provides a fountain a which man and beast can drink pure water, is truly a public benefactor. Give the hores trequent opportunity to quench thref at times when not foo much overheated and before eating. To drink freely immediately after eating prevents a favorable digestion of food.

The first ression of congress under a demo-cratic frest lent for a quarter of a century is about expiring, and the most striking feature of its record is the evidence which it has furnished of the disintegration of parties. The dividing lines between the two old organizations have been repeatedly and thoroughly broken down, and the end of the session leaves the distinction is tween republicans and democrats as vague that labels are really necessary to distinguish members of the respective parties

All the mines of Josephine county are certified up new and work suspended until full raties set in the claim of J. Winer A sons, at Wuld) was the last to clear up. Though the mining states was desired, the returns from the mines have heen satisfactory. What this county wants is capital, "men and money," Josephine county has been so soluted that capital has scarcely commenced to cross her border. Her rich mines have been worked for over thirty pears, but all the time on the surface. Our placers have been skimmed and our quartz veine claimed and reclaimed but never a dollar expended to develop them. Until the O.A.C. R. H. was extended we soldom met a scientific mining man who represented capital. Now they appear occasionally but there has been no development, so that they can see but little from what they do see of the country they are very enthusiastic that we have an almost inexhaustible deposit of rich quartz and placers awinting the capitalist. Mesers. Sinth and Booth, both mining men, have negotiated for the purchase of Green Brothers mine at Galice creek, in which they have great confidence. This is the only quartz mine in the county which has been followed, and the results are very satisfactory.

The poorest ore from the nickel mine on Pine mountain, three miles from Riddle station, it is stated, will yield allegate growth of atked to the ton, while the best will yield about $2400 to the ton, while the best will yield about $2400 to the ton, It would pay 17 work the ore if it did not go more than $50 Micket now finds ready sale at seventy-five centre to the pound, with a probability of a rise in value. The managers, liesers, Brown and Adams of O kland, California, have already invested about $36,000 in the diggings, and will, in a short time, it is whispered, put up a quartz mill at this place. It is also stated that Mr. Adams will probably visit the mines next month. Good rouds have been made from the mines to the railroad and other important points. Several buildings, including a powder house, work shops, assayers' rooms and a dwelling house, have aircady been created. One tunnel about 30 feet long has been excavated with the best of results. Provide shade. How instinctively we seek the shadow when the sun is pouring its hot rays on the dry and parching earth. If the pasture is not provided with shade trees, in a convenient locality set four, six or eight supports, across which place straw or grass, and thus, in a brief time and with little lator make a shade in which animals can rest from the heat of the sour, to the great comfort of themselves and benefit to their owners.

Remove the harness from the horses in the hot day whenever you desire to give them a full free rest, and once during the day, preferably at night, a thorough currying and grooming will not only give rest, but will do about as much toward improving the animal's condition as will the outs.

THE OPPONENTS OF THE NEW TREATT As was to be expected, the irreconcilables among the American Irab have adopted an attitude of complete antagonism towards the Phelpe-Rossebery convention. "If it should become law," says one of them, "the United States will be rendered nothing more than an outpost of British despoilsm." This, we need hardly add, is the utterance of Mr Patrick Ford, the gentleman who collects servant-girls dollars, and spends the comparatively small part of them which he does not appropriate in bribing poor ignorant fellows to commit crimes which place them for life in English prisons. Even Mr John Boyle ('Reilly, poet and letteratent, who knows much better, is compelled, in order to continue to sell his Roston paper, the Patrot, to say that such a treaty would be "tine intermy of America." "Path Mail trarefte

A NEW ALLIANCE IN PROSPECT This brings me to a question which a great many are alrency discussing in all seriousness here. That is whether the tories will seek a modus visend with the Parnellites in the new parliament. Of course, they will not do so immediately, nor on the home rule question above all others. But the pledges and the passions of the general election are too fresh for anything like that Speculation projects itself forward to a peric d more remote, when men have settled down steady to those calculations which serious politicians have to make in the bouse of commons and f find the opinion strongly held among many abrewid politicians that the tories will certainly make a great bid before they are long in office for the Irish vote. The resson given in favor of this view is that anything like a continued allience between the tories and the dissentient liberals is entirely out of the question—Correspondence of the Europe Lost. ny are alrendy discussing in all seriol

BURGLARS IN PESSASSION In the meanwhile the duty of radicals is clear It will be found will be the attitude of all radi-cals whose sears in parlament are due to their having been suit there by radicals. It is a cus-tomary habit of the adverants of a government to allege that those who attack it are attacking their country, so this worn out trash as not likely to disturb us for my part, my feelings, when a conservative government is in office, are those of a decent householder when burglars have effected a lodgment in his pantry—Fruth

During the last six years of sensational ad-During the last all years of sensational administration at home and blundering diministration abroad business of all kinds has accumulated and has been magnetial, while what is not really business has been hundled. We want in no deprecentory sense a ministry of affairs which shall neither be above nor below the dulies of a ministry. Ye feladstone is no doubt a man of great ability but it is currous that the last thing which seems to occur to him as the duly of a minister is to attend to administration. He never seems to have any attention to spare for making the most of what is in his casseless endeavors to change something that is not. We repeat that if the reason ahie men, classes and masses alite, of the nation were consulted, the great majority would say "For heaven's sake, let us drop politics for a time and come to business." And the wiest course for the new ministry, however it is can stituted, will be, with such limitations as the necessity of clearing up Mr. cladstone's binn ders impose, to recognize this temper and to try to satisfy it.—Saturday Review. WHAT MIGHT HAVE REES

Had a coalition ministry been found possible this juncture it would have conferred upon at this juncture it would have conferred upon the country two very considerable advantages in addition to the primary blessing of a strong administration, capable of making the empire respected at home and abroad It would in the first place have given us two well defined parties, and would have enabled the benieses of politics to be carried on in the constitutional English manner instead of by the confused interaction of several groups. In the second place, it would have led to the abolition of party manner, which have lost their meaning and are now potent for nothing but mischief, to the obliteration of party distinctions which no longer correspond to facts, and to the re-organization and remaining of parties in a manner suited to the needs of the day instead of to the memories of a dead past.—London Telegraph ROTAL EXTRICAGANCE

Wellst the conservatives are urging us to treat Ireined as Ruesla treats Poland, there is a little reform which the can has inaugurated that we radicals would do well to follow. The heir to the throne is to have his allowance or to wo from £0,800 per annum, which has very annum to £10,000 per annum, which has wife's allowance is to be £0000 per annum. What is deemed sufficient for the heir of all the Russis cight to be deemed ended for the heir of the British empire. I have always thought that £0,000 per annum ought to sife's for the incumbent of the British throne, and £10,000 per annum ought to sife's for the incumbent of the British throne, and £10,000 per annum for the heir to the throne whits I would give £2.00 per annum to the yeunger children of the monarch As it is, the royal family coebs us very learly a million per annum, and these buge allowances only tend to keep up the snob bish idea that there is something admirable in lavish and wasteful expenditure. A considera bis portion of this million is not really spent by members of the royal family, but distributed amongst the members of the alelstoracy for performing more or less silly duties about the monarch and her relatives votes in the house of lords are openly bought with promises of lucrative court appointments and peers relatives fight for these appointments like a tribe of hungry wolves—London Truth

Advice to Howells

Noting Mr Howell's praise of Gen. Grant's processfyles, the St. Louis Post perturently says that "he might will have added to his sensible comment the recommendation that so ne of our modern wearers of fiction adopt with profit to themselves and benefit to their readers something of this unaffected style. In the literature of to-day there is a vast deal of more rhestoric, a painful striving after beauties of description and artifice of phrase. A few chapters of Grant every day talget make better novelies of our verbal florists."

HOPS—Now Yirk dates to the thinst report. The roudition of the hop market has in the wise improved values being as unstable as ever. The report of extreme figures in the country 34222 cents are very generally discredited here or if paid it is believed to be for effect. As is itshally the case when the market is so excited and values so problematical nearly all the sales being made are said to be of hops which are only ordinary. As high as we cents is quoted as paid here and 5 in the country brus a matter of fact nearly all the sales are under 0 cents and very largely at 28 cents for very fair hops croy test. Still country prices run up as high as 35 and even 40 cents—the katter price paid at Allass till for the entire crop
